The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying a gradebook interface. On the right side, a 'Grade Schemas' panel is open. The panel has a title 'Grade Schemas' and a description: 'Grading schemas map percentages to letter grades or some other notation for reporting performance.' Below the description is a link 'Manage Grade Schemas'. Underneath is a section titled 'Student Performance' with a checkbox 'Identify students with alerts and receive activity stream notifications'. Below this is a note: 'If you leave the fields empty, the alerts will not show'. There are two input fields: 'Overall grade below or equal' with the value '80' and a '%' sign, and 'Number of missed due dates above or equal' with an empty field. A blue square with a white 'X' is highlighted in the top right corner of the panel, indicating the close button.
