Public Itinerary

March 9, 2015, Mercy College, Mercy Hall, Rotunda

8:30 - 9:00 a.m. – Continental breakfast

9:00 – 9:05 a.m. – Introduction, Tim Hall, president, Mercy College

9:05 – 9:35 a.m. – Who Gets to Graduate? How Colleges and Universities Can Address the Student Wealth Gap

Keynote Speaker, Paul Tough, New York Times journalist, best-selling author

- Synopsis: For most of the 20th century, colleges and universities in the United States were powerful instruments of social mobility and increasing equality. Each generation’s population of college-educated adults was bigger and more diverse than the one before it—a phenomenon that helped create the great American middle class and produced the most powerful economy in the world. Today, the system of higher education in the United States tends to work very effectively for higher-income families, but it is no longer accomplishing its traditional mission of helping ambitious poor and working-class young people reach the middle and upper classes. In this talk, Paul Tough introduces the innovative new ideas—proposed by psychologists, sociologists, and economists—on how to address this problem. He dives into the creative solutions administrators and researchers are testing out—inexpensive interventions that plant positive ideas in the minds of struggling college students, helping them develop the grit and perseverance and sense of belonging they need to persist and succeed. If these researchers' preliminary results hold up, says Tough, we may be on the verge of solving one of the biggest social challenges of our generation.

9:45 a.m. Live! National Webcast Begins

9:45 – 10:00 a.m. – Welcome Remarks, Tim Hall, President, Mercy College

10:00 – 10:55 a.m. – Creating a culture of student success on college campuses

  National Thought Leader Panel
  o Paul Tough, New York Times journalist, author How Children Succeed (Moderator)
  o Martha Kanter, former Undersecretary of Education, U.S. Department of Education (Focus on Education Policy)
  o David Laude, Senior Vice Provost, University of Texas at Austin (Focus on Faculty)
  o Tristan Denley, Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs, Tennessee Board of Regents (Focus on Innovation)
  o Cynthia Rivera Weissblum, President, Edwin Gould Foundation (Focus on Student Success)

10:55 - 11:05 a.m. – 10 minute break

11:05 – 11:35 a.m. – What the Best College Teachers Do

  Ken Bain, President, Best Teachers Institute
  o Synopsis: What makes a great teacher great? Who are the professors students remember long after graduation? This discussion, the conclusion of a fifteen-year study of nearly one hundred college teachers in a wide variety of fields and universities, offers valuable answers for all educators. The short answer is--it's not what teachers do, it's what they understand. Lesson plans and lecture notes matter less than the special way teachers comprehend the subject and value human learning. Whether historians or physicists, in El Paso or St. Paul, the best teachers know their subjects inside and out--but they also know how to engage and challenge students and to provoke impassioned responses. Most of all, they believe two things fervently: that teaching matters and that students can learn.

11:35 – 11:45 a.m. - 10 minute break

11:45 – 12:30 a.m. - Bridging the Skills Gap: Higher Education’s Moment and Opportunity.

  o Synopsis: In today’s global, knowledge-based economy, bridging the skills gap is more significant now than ever before in the history of the American workforce. Recently, the Center on Education and the Workforce at Georgetown University reported that 65 percent of jobs added nationwide will require postsecondary education by 2020. We present opportunities for the higher education industry to adapt and thrive in the new demands needed to grow the economy and tackle the skills gap in America.

12:30 – 12:40 am – Concluding remarks

EXAMPLE EMAIL INVITATION:

Subject - National Thought Leader Forum “Student Success Revolution: A Tipping Point to Close the College Attainment Gap in America,” at Mercy College in Dobbs Ferry, New York

Dear ____________:

Mercy College is pleased to announce a National Thought Leader Forum “Student Success Revolution: A Tipping Point to Close the College Attainment Gap in America,” scheduled on Monday, March 9, 2015 at Mercy College located at 555 Broadway, Dobbs Ferry, NY.

This innovative event brings together higher education leaders, philanthropists, policymakers, media, foundations, and employers to significantly increase college access, completion, and labor market success in America.

More than ever before, student success is everyone’s business — and calling into question the core of higher education today and in the future.

Tim Hall, president of Mercy College, will inaugurate the event. Tim Hall is the former president of Austin Peay State University in Tennessee. During Hall’s years at Austin Peay, both President Barack Obama and Bill Gates praised the university for its innovative use of technology to support student success. Furthermore, Hall was one of five higher education leaders invited to testify in the fall of 2013 before the Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pension Committee concerning innovation in higher education. Mercy College is a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) serving over 10,000 students where 71% of Mercy freshmen are Pell grantees from the New York City area.

Confirmed national thought leaders speaking at the event include Martha Kanter, former Undersecretary of Education, U.S. Department of Education; Paul Tough, New York Times journalist and best-selling author of How Children Succeed, and Whatever It Takes; Tristan Denley, Vice Chancellor, Tennessee Board of Regents; David Laude, Senior Vice Provost, University of Texas at Austin, Ken Bain, president, Best Teachers Institute, and more.
